
Resource for all of us

Posted by unplugged - 2007/12/14 09:24

Hey all...Newbie here. I am a singer songwriter and play in a few bands. I'm always looking for new means and places to promote my music and I found this great site I wanted to tell you all about.

<http://www.bluecometcafe.com>. You can upload videos of your band or solo shows for free and get lots of exposure to fans who really love independent music. Blue Comet Café is like a virtual venue too. You can go to their studios and perform live while they stream your performance to thousands of fans across the web. I don't know about all of you but I am tired of playing coffee houses to a dozen people... I love the exposure I have gotten to real independent music fans using Blue Comet Café. Check them out:

<http://myspace.com/bluecometcafe>

=====